Second Collection Today

The Catholic Campaign for Human Development is the national anti-poverty program of the U.S. Catholic Bishops, working to carry out the mission of Jesus Christ "... to bring glad tidings to the poor ... liberty to captives ... sight to the blind, and let the oppressed go free." (Luke 4:18)

The belief that those who are directly affected by unjust systems and structures have the best insight into knowing how to change them is central to CCHD. CCHD works to break the cycle of poverty by helping low-income people participate in decisions that affect their lives, families and communities.

This Sunday there will be a 2nd collection in all Catholic parishes in our country for the Catholic Campaign for Human Development. For more than 30 years this national collection has been taken up in November. The CCHD has been very supportive of MICAHA, the citizens' organization in Memphis for social justice, of which St. Patrick's is an institutional member.

Home for the Holidays: Coping Strategies for LGBTQ Catholics

Wed., Nov. 20, 8:00 PM E.T.

Virtual event with
Dr. Mary Kate Roohan

For LGBTQ Catholics, going home for the holidays can be a time of uncertainty. Join Outreach for a special virtual event with Dr. Mary Kate Roohan, a licensed clinical psychologist, who will share skills for navigating this intricate reality of being an LGBTQ person of faith amid family members and religious communities who may differ in allyship to the LGBTQ community. This hour-long virtual event with Dr. Mary Kate Roohan will offer a time of learning and of community, as we come together to discuss what is undoubtedly a universal queer experience.

Dr. Mary Kate Roohan is a clinical psychologist, drama therapist, and the founder of Thrive and Feel, a therapy practice in Pasadena, California. As a queer therapist, she is passionate about supporting LGBTQ people by creating collaborative, healing spaces where clients can be their most authentic selves.

Día de Los Muertos

We celebrate Día de Los Muertos with a special “side altar” where we invite you to bring in and place pictures and remembrances of your deceased loved ones. The altar will remain on display until Thanksgiving. Please put a label on the back of the item or photo stating who is in the photo, who the picture belongs to, and the “life-span” of the person. (DOB–DOD)

A mixture of indigenous and Catholic traditions, Día de Los Muertos is a joyous occasion when the memory of ancestors and the continuity of life is celebrated. Its roots are in ancient Mexico but it is celebrated in many North, Central, and South American countries.

Although the skeleton is a strong symbol for both Halloween and Días de Los Muertos, the meaning is very different. For Días de Los Muertos the skeleton represents the dead playfully mimicking the living and is not a macabre symbol at all.

Preparation begins weeks in advance when statues, candies, breads and other items to please the departed are sold in markets. A sweet bread, pan de muerto, with decorations representing bones of the deceased is very popular as are sugar skulls.

Altars, ofrecetas, are set up in the home with offerings of sweets and the favorite foods and beverages of the deceased. These offerings may later be given away or consumed by the living after their essence has been enjoyed by the dead. Marigolds are the traditional decorative flower and copal is the traditional incense.

The particulars of the celebration vary widely by region in Mexico. On November 2, the spirits of the dead return. Entire families visit the graves of their ancestors, bringing favorite foods and beverages as offerings to the deceased as well as a picnic lunch for themselves. They spend the day cleaning and decorating the grave sites and visiting with each other and other families. Traditionally there is a feast in the early morning although many now celebrate with an evening meal. There are cake, candy and cookie sugar skulls and toys for the children, emphasizing early on that death is a positive part of the life cycle. It is a happy occasion for remembering pleasant times with departed family members.

Coalition
for Action and Hope

As a partner in the Memphis Interfaith Coalition for Action and Hope (MICAH), we have experienced the significance and strength that comes from collaboration to create a more just and equitable Memphis. Together, we have achieved remarkable progress in our city and have even started expanding our efforts to address issues at the state level. In 2018, MICAH's charter partners covenanted together in this work, pledging to stand together against the disparities and injustices that have impacted our community.

We reaffirm this commitment through a Re-Covenanting Ceremony

Procedure for Reporting Sexual Abuse

Anyone who has knowledge of or who has cause to suspect an incident of sexual abuse should report the information to the appropriate civil authorities first at 1-877-237-0004, then to the Diocesan Director of Child & Youth Protection at 901-359-2027 or the Diocesan Victim Assistance Coordinator at 901-652-4066.
